

11 DECEMBRE 2015 – PARIS

JOURNÉE AGRICULTURE & RURAL EN TRANSITION CLIMATIQUE

CMR and MRJC would like to invite you to the event «Agriculture and rural areas in the ecological transition»

December 11th 2015 - Paris

With this event CMR and MRJC want to gather peasants and experts, urban and rural citizens. Together we will look for local and global solutions to implement the deep transformations in the way we live, produce and consume that COP 21 and the encyclical Laudato si' call for.

Where ?

Maison de la Conférence des Evêques de France (CEF), 58 Avenue de Breteuil
75007 Paris

Program*

9h30

10h Opening speech

10h15 «The ecological transition in my everyday life»

Short sketch « Lecture on ecology to my father »

Testimonials

Farmers and consumers will share their outlook on agriculture in connection with climatic and environmental issues. They will talk about what they do to implement change in their everyday life.

11h30 Workshops

12h10 Conclusion

Lunch break (the lunch will be provided)

« Can agriculture and rural areas be a force for change in the current context? »

14h15 Short documentary (video)

14h25 Introduction

14h45 Oral presentations by Matthieu Calame, agronomist and Director of the Charles Léopold Mayer Foundation for the Progress of Humankind (fph) and Jean-Claude Balbot, farmer and national secretary of the Initiative Centers for the promotion of agriculture and rural areas network (CIVAM)

15h45 Debate

16h45 Break

17h Synthesis

17h10 Conclusion

17h15 The end

Times indicated in brown are subject to modifications*